

RUSSIAN-GERMAN MILITARY PACT IS HINTED

2 MORE STREET
PROJECTS WIN
WPA APPROVAL

Unexpected Releases On Mound and Brooklyn
Jobs Received

WORK SCHEDULED
WITHIN 3 WEEKS

Base Is Down On Maple;
Bituminous Top To Be Laid Soon

The unexpected approval and release of schedules on the proposed paving of Mound st. and Brooklyn ave. by the district WPA office was announced today by City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff.

The engineer said work may be launched on both projects within the next two or three weeks.

Release Moved Up
Only recently a group of Brooklyn ave. residents appeared before city council and were informed that there was little prospect of getting a WPA release on the job before the first of the year.

It was because of this that the WPA sidewalk project was run in on Brooklyn only last week. Usually walks are laid after a street has been paved. Barckhoff indicated, however, that the sidewalk project would be completed before the street is prepared for paving.

The Mound and Brooklyn projects will start upon the completion of the Maple st. paving now in progress. The base has been laid on Maple, with work expected to start shortly on applying the bituminous top. Maple st., which was one of the roughest in the city, is being paved between Franklin and S. Union avenues.

Railroad St. On Schedule
Mound st. will be improved between Washington ave. and Morris st. while Brooklyn will be paved from E. State st. to E. Third st. The engineer is now preparing schedules for submission to the WPA for the improvement of Railroad st. between S. Ellsworth and Neward avenues.

All streets are being paved under the city-sponsored WPA blanket street project.

Rains Benefit To Parched Pastures;
City Escapes Storm

Rains descended upon the district yesterday and today but slightly less than one inch of precipitation was noted.

Salem escaped a severe storm this morning which swept Mahoning county to the north. The storm brought nearly 1.5 inches of rain to parched pastures but lightning which accompanied it caused several thousand dollars' damage.

Near Youngstown a barn was burned after lightning struck it. The loss, including a bull which died in the fire, was set by firemen at $8,000.

In Youngstown three homes and a church were damaged by lightning bolts, but none caught fire.

The prolonged dry spell, partially alleviated, has caused suspension of classes at the Maple Ridge school near Beloit because of lack of water for drinking and sanitary purposes.

Cisterns at some homes in the Beloit region also are reported dry.

Saved in Courageous Disaster

Royal Marine Bugler Dick Emerson, 15 years old, is happy to be home with his mother in Plymouth, England, after escaping death in the Courageous disaster. Making his first voyage, he was one of more than 600 seamen rescued by British destroyers after the aircraft carrier was sunk by a German submarine. Nearly 600 others died.

DEATH SUMMONS
C. H. ATKINSON

Brother of Dr. L. W. Atkinson Dies in Brookings, S. D.

Word was received by Dr. Lee W. Atkinson of the death of his brother, Charles H. Atkinson, caused by heart failure last evening at his home in Brookings, S. D.

The son of Henry and Mary Sprout Atkinson, he was born Nov. 6, 1883, near Damascus on the Salem-Damascus rd. After being graduated from the old Damascus academy and from Mt. Union college, he was married to Miss Emma Stanley of Salem.

They moved to West Branch, Iowa, where Mr. Atkinson was superintendent of schools for two years. He continued teaching in the west for some years, first at Manchester, Iowa, where he again was superintendent.

Shortly after his removal to Brookings, S. D., he formed the C. H. Atkinson Paving company, which has subsequently grown to be one of the largest paving and bridge building companies in the Mississippi valley, its activities reaching south into Kansas and Arkansas and east into Illinois. He also organized and has since remained as president of the Lisbon Watertown Products Co., Watertown, S. D., manufacturer of builders' supplies.

For many years Mr. Atkinson was president of the school board of Brookings and he was a director of a number of concerns in and about Brookings.

Mr. Atkinson was widely known in and about Salem, coming here every few years to see his old friends and relatives. On his last trip three years ago he spent several weeks here.

Surviving are his wife and five children, Roger, Ruth, Edward, Alice and Stanley, all married and living in the west. He also leaves, besides his brother here, two sisters, Mrs. Jessie Wood of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Ernest Maris of Boulder, Colo.

Officers were elected and campaign plans discussed by Salem Democrats at a meeting Tuesday night in the Memorial building. James Cavanaugh, a deputy auditor at the Lisbon courthouse, was named chairman. Other officers, who comprise a board of control, are: Vice chairman, Stephen Tarsan, Jr.; secretary, Fred W. Koenig; treasurer, Vincent Judge.

Norman H. Phillips, Democratic mayoralty candidate, will serve as chairman of the platform committee, which includes all candidates.

John Taylor, former state senator, was elected publicity chairman. He will be assisted by John P. Roth and Joseph Harshman.

The Democrats will hold a general organization meeting Oct. 10 at the Memorial building, at which time plans will be discussed further for campaign activities.

A series of precinct meetings is tentatively planned and arrangements are being made to bring a speaker of national prominence to the city as a campaign climax.

War's Profits
Do Not Last,
Girdler Says

Industry Does Not Want
United States To Take Up Arms

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Tom M. Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel Corp., says the idea that war brings any genuine prosperity to the steel industry is "a delusion and a snare."

Speaking at a meeting of founder engineering societies last night, Girdler said: "I know of no responsible person in the steel industry who wants the United States to take up arms. We can dispose of the idea at once that war brings any genuine prosperity to the steel industry."

"Even if large profits were allowed by the government, which I do not believe would be the case in any future war, they would be of no lasting benefit to the industry. 'Whatever accumulation of (World) war earnings was left after payment of war taxes soon disappeared in the backwash of the post-war depression.'"

Declaring that "war business is bad business" to the steel industry, Girdler added: "It throws the whole delicate machinery of trade and industry violently out of balance."

The Republic chairman advocated repeal of the arms embargo in the neutrality act, asserting:

"I stand would not, in itself, result in our going into the war, particularly if we have a cash and carry provision that materials would not be transported in American ships. We cannot legislate peace through an embargo on the shipment of arms or ammunitions."

MIDDLETOWN, Sept. 27.—Charles R. Hook, president of the American Rolling Mill company, in an address last night declared "war means only great loss in the end," and "nothing is farther from the truth than the belief that industry would welcome the United States' entry into war."

Grangers To Hold
Annual Inspection

Goshen grange will hold the annual grange inspection Friday evening in the hall, when an effort will be made to have every officer and member present. Subordinate and juvenile granges will be inspected during the session.

The second degree in full form will be given by the degree team. Following the lecture hour program, an apple pie baking contest will be held to select an entry for the Pomona grange pie contest, the winner of which will be entered in the state grange pie baking competition.

BRITISH TAXES
HIT NEW PEAKS
AS WAR GOES ON

Income Tax Until Next
March 31 Is Set At
35 Per Cent

JUMPS TO 37.5

Rates Hit "Citizens of Every Kind and Fortune"

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Sept. 27.—Britain today levied on her citizens the heaviest taxes they ever have known to meet an estimated £2,000,000,000 ($7,920,000,000) outlay in the current financial year, greatly swelled by the costs of war against Germany.

Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, presenting his first war budget in the house of commons, announced the standard income tax rate for the rest of the fiscal year—ending March 31—would be 35 per cent and for the 1940-41 year 37.5 per cent.

Rates Are Listed
The rates are to be seven shillings in the pound (£1.37 in $3.96) until March 31 and seven shillings sixpence (£1.48) thereafter. (These rates are levied on income in excess of exemptions ranging from £125 a year—about $495—for single persons to £400—about $1,584—for married men with three children.)

At the same time Sir John levied drastic direct tax increases—as he put it, "all down the line"—on beer, whisky, tobacco, sugar, wines, death duties, income surtaxes and excess profits. The tea tax was untouched, however.

"These severe sacrifices—the heaviest which a direct taxpayer in this country has ever had to bear—were declared by Sir John to be vital in the scheme which called for contribution to war expenses 'from citizens of every kind and fortune.'"

The present standard rate is five shillings sixpence in the pound, or 27.5 per cent.

Goes Up Jan. 1
Simon said the income tax assessment due Jan. 1 "will be made out at a seven shilling rate."

"I put forward that in a full year the standard rate of income tax shall be seven shillings and sixpence," he said.

The new income tax would produce an extra £70,000,000 ($277,200,000) this year and £146,000,000 ($578,160,000) in the next full year, he asserted.

There would be special provisions to "mitigate the severity of the increase where individuals this year experience a substantial drop of earned income."

Where a man earned £1,000 ($3,960) last year and would normally be assessed on that figure this year, but only received £700 ($2,772) this year, Sir John explained, he will be assessed on the latter figure.

Sir John's new tax rates are the highest in British history. The world war rate was six shillings in the pound, or 30 per cent.

Motor Club Office
Is Open at Nights
To Issue Licenses

Sales of driver's licenses, which must be obtained by Sunday, are running about the same as this time last year, A. P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club office, said today.

A total of 2,500 permits have been issued to date, leaving an estimated 2,500 to be sold before the end of the week.

In order to accommodate the expected last minute rush, Morris said the office, situated just east of the Arbuthnot furniture store on E. State st., would remain open until 8 each night this week.

The office has issued 106 chauffeur licenses to date. Two hundred and fifty chauffeur licenses were sold last year.

The War Censors At Work

British—"We Won" Germans—"We Won"

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, told the house of commons today that a squadron of British warships was attacked in the North sea yesterday by 20 German planes but that none was hit.

"No British casualties were reported, but one German flying boat was shot down and another damaged," Churchill said. "Another German aircraft came down and we sent a destroyer to collect her and her crew of four, who were brought in as prisoners."

Value of Lighting
Is Quota Subject

A dinner meeting of the Quota club in the Memorial building Tuesday evening featured a talk on "Light Conditioning" by Mrs. Robert Beatty, home lighting advisor for the Ohio-Edison company.

Emphasizing the difference in old-fashioned and modern lighting methods, members of the committee had decorated the tables, lighted them with oil lamps, and arranged 100-watt bulbs at the places as favors.

Miss Margaret Kirkbride entertained with a piano solo, "Moonlight and Roses."

Mrs. Beatty emphasized in her demonstration of modern lighting the contribution made by light to beauty, health and comfort, explaining the facilities available to home-owners today in arranging lighting comfort.

The Oct. 10 meeting will be held in the inclosed pavilion in Centennial park.

During the business session Miss Kirkbride was named as delegate to the district conference of Quota clubs in London, Ont., Oct. 14.

Lake Of Fire
No Obstacle
To Rail Hero

Engineer Guides Train,
Cab Ablaze, Safely
Into Yards

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 27.—Fellow trainmen today acclaimed a veteran railway engineer as the hero after he raced his train with 200 passengers through a lake of fire, guided it across a river, trestle with his cab in flames and brought it safely into the railroad yards here.

The engineer was J. M. Bland of Little Rock. He gave this version of the incident:

Shortly before his Memphis section of the Missouri Pacific's Sunshine limited pulled into the North Little Rock yards early Tuesday, a gasoline tank car was punctured in a switching accident, spilling gasoline into a vast pool along the right-of-way.

Unaware of the gasoline, Bland put his train into the yards. Sparks from the engine's fire box ignited the gasoline, enveloping the engine and creating a blazing lake hundreds of yards in front of the nine-car train.

Grasping the situation "almost instinctively," Bland shoved up the throttle and increased his speed to 50 miles an hour. With the train clear of the blazing gasoline, the scorched cab caught fire, forcing Bland and his firemen out onto the platforms in front of the cab. This occurred just as the speeding locomotive approached the big railway bridge spanning the Arkansas river between the twin cities.

Bland thrust his gloved hand through the flames of the cab to the throttle and the train roared safely into the yards where the fire was extinguished.

WORLD WATCHES
MOSCOW PARLEY

May Provide Information
On Trend of European War

By DEWITT MacKENZIE,
Associated Press Foreign Affairs
Writer.

We may know a good deal more within a few hours about the trend of the European war, as the result of the projected Russo-German-Turkish parley at Moscow.

This meeting is potentially the most important political development since the signing of the Russo-German anti-aggression pact which was drum-major for ushering in the conflict.

Oil And Water
We may get a better line on whether oil and water finally have been made to mix, that is, on the depth of the new-born Communist-Nazi brotherhood (if any).

Some observers believe that the question of a military alliance between Germany and Russia may even arise—an eventuality which would have a momentous effect on the situation and naturally would be a blow to the Anglo-French allies.

Strangely enough, French Premier Daladier chose the eve of this conference to challenge the Muscovites by taking the extreme step of declaring dissolution of France's big Communist party and outlawing Communist propaganda.

There is a considerable list of vital problems which diplomats in Moscow and other capitals figure will be likely to come up for ironing out at the three-cornered conversations. These include:

1. Whether there shall be a small "buffer" state between Nazi Poland and Soviet Poland, this buffer presumably representing all that remains of the old Poland.

Formation of New Balkan Bloc Said To Be Possibility

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Sept. 27.—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany arrived today for talks with the Soviet government amid unconfirmed reports a Soviet-German military pact was under consideration.

Three planes bearing the German delegation landed at 5:45 p. m. (9:45 a. m. EST) from Berlin to be greeted by a brass band and an honor guard, touches that were missing when Von Ribbentrop arrived Aug. 23 to sign the Soviet-German non-aggression pact.

Vladimir Potemkin, vice commissar of foreign affairs, headed Soviet officials welcoming the Nazi party.

Von Ribbentrop smiled broadly as he emerged from the plane to exchange "Heil Hitler" greetings and handshakes with the staff of the German embassy.

The airport was decorated with intertwined Soviet and Nazi flags. Italian Ambassador Augusto Rocco was the only foreign diplomat who appeared for the welcome.

The coming of Germany's foreign minister, coupled with the presence in Moscow of the Turkish foreign minister, caused diplomatic circles to speculate today on possible developments rivaling in importance the German-Soviet Russian non-aggression pact.

These developments, said diplomats, might include:

1.—Signing of a German-Soviet military agreement.

2.—Formation of a new Balkan-Near Eastern bloc under the guidance of Turkey and Russia.

3.—A joint German-Soviet request that Turkey act as intermediary in attempts to negotiate peace in western Europe.

The purpose of the visit of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, said Tass, official Russian news agency, was to discuss "problems connected with developments in Poland."

Moscow observers thought it significant, however, that Von Ribbentrop should time his journey to coincide with the presence of Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu.

THEME SONG

If Mussolini, sending up doves of peace, isn't kidding;

If Hitler, still refusing to admit in communiques that war on the western front is a grim reality, isn't kidding;

If the military "eggspurts" who say the Allies will wait out Nazi developments before attacking Germany aren't kidding;

And if the British and French, threatening war to the death, are kidding;

Then there is a ready-made theme song for World war II. Or at least there's a song, lately popular, with a line in it that goes:

"Let's call the whole thing off."

THANKSGIVING

Several states are going to have two Thanksgiving days, the one proclaimed by the President and the other by governors who hold to the old traditions.

It's a good idea. Americans who stop and think things over will find enough to be thankful for that it would take half a dozen days to express it adequately. There can be one for the sons in college instead of the trenches, one that we can go to sleep at night knowing that a bomb will not blow us out of bed, one that the red on our hillside is only the autumn foliage, one that we can still give thanks to God for anything and you can doubtless add a couple of others of your own.

FREEDOM TO PRINT

It has been 300 years since the first printing was struck from a press in the United States on Sept. 25, 1639, at Cambridge, Mass.

Rev. Jose Glover, a dissenting minister of some means, started from England with the press but he died on the voyage. Stephen Daye, a printer he was bringing with him, continued the trip and set up the press which is now a prized possession of the Vermont Historical society. First publication was "The Freeman's Oath", second an almanac and the third a book of psalms.

Americans may well give thanks that after three centuries this country is one of the few on the face of the earth in which the freedom to print remains unchallenged.

SUCCESS FORMULA

Carl Laemmle, dead at 72, was the only movie producer whose face was familiar to customers. Shrewd in most things, he personalized his business by using his picture in advertisements, along with signed endorsements of his studio's pictures.

"Uncle Carl" was one of the ground-floor men of the picture industry. Like most of the others he entered by the front door. He saw the possibilities of the nickelodeon, cleaned up, became a distributor and cleaned up, then became a producer and made enough money to retire in 1936. He would have retired earlier, but lacked a buyer for his interests.

This was not strictly according to the usual success formula. Everything else in Carl Laemmle's life was. When opportunity knocked he answered, and he saw to it that opportunity always found him at home.

PIGSKIN PROPAGANDISTS

Don't tremble. This is about harmless propaganda—more or less. The publicity departments of the big universities are hitting new highs this year, along with all other propagandists.

Three examples of stoutest press agentic come to a mind they have helped to warp in favor of grid-iron diodes. All three are photographs.

One shows a backfield charging with fixed bayonets—the war tieup. Another shows the entire squad galloping over hurdles representing opposing teams on the schedule. The third reveals two luminaries of Cornell university using a whisk broom on a football—"showing how they hope to sweep the season clean."

This is crude propaganda, as easy to spot as a black cat in an operating room. But like baseball training camp bluffs in spring, it's what the public expects. People like to be fooled by propagandists when all they have to sell is a show. When it's a war, that's something else.

SPADE THAT WASN'T CALLED A SPADE

The big argument is over revision of the "neutrality act."

This is usually referred to as the "so-called neutrality act." It's admitted the title is misleading—always has been.

It isn't a neutrality act at all, but a scheme to keep the United States from getting mixed up again on the side of Great Britain and France, its World war allies. Its backers never assumed the American people would be neutral in event of war. They knew better.

They knew that the American people and their government would be boiling over with prejudice and thought the way to save them was to make it tough to do business with belligerents. So they passed a law—not a very good law but the best they could think up at the time.

Instead of calling it a law to keep the United States from doing business with belligerents they called it a neutrality act. Neutrality is something else entirely, if there really is such a thing. The successful neutrals of Europe, like Holland and Switzerland, sell anything to anybody in wartime. They don't believe in letting their feelings hurt their pocketbooks.

The United States doesn't believe in that either and never did. Exactly as the isolationists feared, its citizens now want to do business with belligerents—as long as the belligerents will take the risk. There is tremendous pressure to revise the "so-called neutrality act" for this purpose. If it had been called a law to keep the United States out of a war boom, nobody would be arguing about it now. It wouldn't have been passed.

For Thursday, September 28

THE LUNAR aspects bearing rule on this day indicate a particularly lively, enterprising and productive day, with much stirring to aid in attaining very important objectives or high ambitions. It may take much skill, initiative, sound judgment and well-directed efforts to realize these goals, since there are auguries of opposition from high places. Such opposition should be met with sagacity or appeasement. There may be surprising developments of a romantic, public or social nature that may be gratifying and welcome.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of important, pleasant and gratifying developments in private life as well as in business relations. Progress, prosperity and attainment of lofty ambitions are forecast. These rewards come from hard work, cleverness, splendid abilities and the support of those in high places who may have to be placated or impressed. Joy may also crown romantic adventure or a desirable friendship.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, industrious, ambitious and aspiring, with excellent talents and qualities for success.

Instead of telling a poor Polish marksman that he couldn't hit the side of a barn door, his comrades now remind him that he'd probably miss even General Goering.

Whatever date on which they celebrate Thanksgiving Day, Americans are going to have a great deal for which to be thankful.

Honolulu is really getting the American idea when a dispatch from there refers to a $1,000,000 housing plan as a low-cost project.

The headlines in one of our exchanges say: "College Student Eats 28 Hamburgers At One Sitting." An appetite like that must be an awful responsibility.

Ulcers In Young and Old Discussed By Physician

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

PEPTIC ULCER, or, as it is now so generally called, ulcer of the stomach is essentially a disease of younger people. In a large series of patients, most of the cases among women occurred between the ages of 15 and 25, and in men from 25 to 35.

When the symptoms of ulcer occur in elderly people, or indeed, the symptoms of any stomach disorder, the suspicion of cancer or gall bladder trouble, not ulcer, is aroused. But there is a type of ulcer that is not uncommon among elderly people; it is named by So-per, "arteriosclerotic ulcer." It is small and the usual symptoms of ulcer, such as hunger pain and relief by food, are absent. Instead, the patient complains of "gas" and vague indigestion. It is unquestionably due to primary damage of the blood vessels—the ulcer itself is secondary.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Different Treatment
The treatment is different from ordinary ulcer. The diet should not consist of the high caloric, such cases a special diet list has been formulated, and it has proved very efficacious. The trouble under this diet, heals within four to six weeks, as a rule. The diet is protective in character, with a low cholesterol content. Alkalis, such as soda bicarbonate, which are used so often in the common type of ulcer, are not employed. Sometimes small doses of thyroid extract can be given.

The diet is as follows:
Breakfast—One glass cool water upon arising (drink slowly); cream of wheat, farina, corn flakes; breakfast food in juice of stewed fruit; egg albumin in orange juice; grapefruit juice and honey; toast and mucoia; fruit jellies; certain beverages.

At 11:00 a. m.—One glass cool water.

For Lunch

Lunch—Select from the following list: minced chicken, turkey or quab, without dressing; scraped beef mixed with the white of an egg and broiled; envelope steak; fresh baked fish (avoid skin and sauce); canned vegetables and fruits; strained vegetables; rice, well cooked; potatoes, well mashed; thin dry toast and mucoia; fruit jellies; fruit ices with meringue; gelatin; angel food cake or any light dessert made without egg yolk; all desserts made with white of egg.

At 4-5 p. m.—One glass cool water.

Dinner—same as lunch.

No meat soup or gravies. All food must be well cooked. Avoid all condiments, such as mustard, horseradish, catsup, pepper, etc. Avoid hot foods and soft drinks. Use sugar and salt in moderation. DRINK COOL WATER (slowly), as often as desired.

Questions and Answers

J. A. M.: "What is the cause of a black and blue spot? As soon as I bang or slightly touch my flesh against something, I get one."

Answer—A black and blue spot is due to rupture of small capillary blood vessels and the extravasation of blood outside them into tissue spaces. The extravasated blood goes through a succession of chemical changes in which red, blue, yellow and green pigments are formed, giving the illumination to the scene. Treatment by the well-known cold beef steak, in spite of impassioned popular support, is of no value whatever.

Inquirer: "Please state whether cancer is contagious. Also what are the first symptoms?"

Answer—Cancer has been proved not to be contagious by every means known. People who live with cancerous people do not get it. Surgeons and nurses who touch cancer tissues do not get it. Cancer tissue has been transplanted under the skin of other people without transmitting it. The first symptoms depend on the location of the cancer. On the skin it usually appears as a dry, rough, painless scaling; the breast as a lump, usually painless; in the uterus as abnormal bleeding.

RATTLESLAKE BAK. Cal.—A human skull, unearthed near here during mining operations, was turned over by the finder who didn't like bones, to a Chinese miner. The Chinese didn't like man skulls either, but something glittered through the eyeless sockets, and he took it down to the nearby stream and washed it. The dirt about the skull contained an ounce of gold and inside the skull was a nugget weighing 10 ounces.

On the way there, crickets will chirp to you... you'll breathe the cool, sweet smell of fresh-turned earth... and watch the evening shadows stretch their fingers out across the land. And at the gentlest urge of your tiptoe, a new kind of power will whisk you smoothly, silently... oh, so easily... over the rolling road. Sohio Supreme... the motor fuel for moderns!

SOHIO SUPREME

... THE PREMIUM MOTOR FUEL FOR MODERNS!

SOHIO SUPREME... the great successor to SOHIO Ethyl

Because SOHIO SUPREME so greatly exceeds the minimum specifications for an "Ethyl" gasoline, we have discontinued the sale of SOHIO Ethyl. We have kept the advantages of Ethyl fluid, and developed in SOHIO SUPREME a motor fuel that is higher in anti-knock, with a better balance of acceleration and power, than any gasoline we have ever before produced for automobile engines. Regardless of the car you drive, we believe the superior qualities of this modern gasoline will be evident with your very first tankful—which you can get today at no increase over the usual price for premium fuel.

"REDHEADS ARE LUCKY"

BY VERA BROWN

SYNOPSIS

Mike Shannon, pretty mahogany-haired magazine counter girl at the Hotel Eureka, is trying to reform one of its spectacular guests—the much publicized Handsome Larry Regan, sensational young southpaw left hand pitcher whose misbehavior has been worrying his team's management. Mike is the chief support of her family. She is not so pleased when "Wish" Malone, the club's No. 1 scout, suggests that she might marry the erratic Handsome. She is now in the midst of a talk with Malone.

CHAPTER V

Wish Malone then explained the situation. "Now what I came to tell you was that we were going to start Handsome one of these days. Just to see if he's learned anything. I want you out there. I'll see Downey about it. If Handsome wants you there in the grandstand, I'm going to see you here. I want the kid to get straightened out before we go on the road again."

The words impressed Mike. Next week Handsome would be gone. With seeing his advantage, kept him.

"Of course I don't want Handsome to know I was here. He'd break my neck. And don't think he won't fight."

"I won't argue that point!" the girl answered, turning again of their class in the cloakroom.

"Just keep up the good work. If we succeed, you ought to cut in on the series money!"

"I'll do what I can. But you overestimate."

"Well see," said Wish as he walked away. He stepped out into the street whistling under his breath. "If he could marry Larry, why couldn't she? His troubles would be over! She had courage to fight the guy! And Wish was sure now that she loved him."

Mike did not see Larry that night as she had planned. The doctor called her from the hospital. Jimmie was to be sent home. He was leaving shortly with her father. She went to Downey immediately and asked to get off early. Before she rushed out of the place, she left a little note for Larry, explaining things. Then she started for home.

That first night Jimmie came home was something Mike was to remember all her life. To see him there, so white and still, almost broke her heart. But it was she who sat up with him because he could not sleep. She told him all about Handsome and the ball players.

"Tell me some more about Mr. Malone," Jimmie would beg, and then she'd begin again. All about Wish and Ace Barnes, and Westlake, and how Wish had discovered Handsome in Charlotte playing for his high school team.

"When I get well, I'm going to work hard and grow up to be a ball player."

"Yes, dear," Mike fought to keep her voice level.

"I want to be a pitcher like Handsome."

"Yes."

The bellhop winked at Mike after nodding at the two drinks: "The big shot thinks he's going to pitch a double-header. One for each game," he grinned...

"Will you bring him to see me?" "He's already promised to come, and he's going to bring you a ball signed by Ace Barnes."

It was midnight before Mike got the boy quieted, and he fell asleep. Then she crept into her room and threw herself on her bed. Mary, awakened, tried to comfort her.

"He's going to be all right, Mike. Don't cry. The doctor says he's going to get well."

When Mike went to work at ten the next morning, she found a note from Handsome he'd left the night before.

"What do you mean running out on me? Wait for me tomorrow."

It made her happy, but she knew there would not be more dinners down town with Handsome. That was over, now that Jimmie was home. He needed her.

Mike kept an eager watch for a sight of Handsome that morning. She saw Ray Travis. He came over to get a paper, and some cigars. They talked a few moments but he did not mention Handsome and neither did Mike, although it took all her self-control to keep silent.

Travis hadn't been gone more than ten minutes when one of the bell boys passed the end of the magazine counter coming from the bar. He was balancing two whiskey sours on a tray and he winked at Mike as he passed.

"The big shot thinks he's going to pitch a double-header today. One for each game," he grinned, nodding toward the two drinks.

Mike watched the bell hop disappear toward the service door. Her heart sank. So! He was drinking again! The girl looked wildly about the lobby. If she could find Mr. Downey! She talked to Hollie Kent, chief of the switchboard, and learned Downey was out.

Mike knew she had to act quickly. She must get somebody to take the counter for a few moments. She called the bell captain:

"Will you take the stand for a few minutes, Ralph? I'll be right back."

Without further ado Mike headed for the back elevator. She rang and the car seemed years coming. The operator's inquisitive eyes bored in to her.

"Hurry," she begged. At the tenth floor, Mike got out and ran down the corridor. At Larry's door she did not knock, but turned the handle slowly. Through the crack she could see Handsome sitting up in bed, drinking the first whiskey sour. Like a cyclone, Mike barged in.

"Put that down!" she snapped.

"In his surprise, Handsome set the glass down obediently and blinked at her. Mike came over to the bedside, grabbed up both drinks, went into the bathroom and threw them down the drain.

When she came back she had a wet towel in her hand and she slapped Handsome's dazed face with it briskly. Then she threw him his bathrobe.

"Get into that. Now get out of bed and into your clothes. Take them into the bathroom. It's almost 11 o'clock!"

Meekly, Handsome obeyed. He was a little unsteady on his feet and fumbled about for his clothes.

"Here!" Mike gathered them up. "Get in the bathroom! I wait right here until you're dressed."

Militant, the redhead stood there glaring up at the six-footer.

"O. K., Skipper," Handsome managed the words as he stumbled into the bathroom. Mike picked up the telephone and ordered a double tomato juice.

"And hurry it, Pierre. This is Miss Shannon."

For by this time Mike was quite reckless. She stood there tapping her foot impatiently. She could hear the shower running. When the tomato juice came, Handsome was still struggling in the bathroom. But shortly he put his head out and asked:

"Shall I shave?"

"Get out here and get this into you." He came out, took the tomato juice.

"Drink it!" He made a terrible face.

"I say, drink it!"

Handsome tried, managed to accomplish the feat.

"Now, get your hat." Of course, Handsome could not find it.

"Never mind it then. Go without one."

"I look terrible," he said, peering at himself in the glass, running his hand over his rough chin.

"Of course, you do."

"Don't be cross with me, Mike," he begged. He looked so crestfallen and humble, so like a kid who'd been caught stealing jam, that Mike weakened for an instant. But she steeled herself.

"I'm not cross with you. You know Ray's just dying to get to the ball grounds to tell everybody you're here drunk!"

"Oh, my head!" Handsome felt it gingerly.

"Good. I'm glad it hurts! Serves you right!"

"Oh, Mike. I'm sorry. I didn't mean to. Why did you have to run out on me?"

Black remorse swept over Handsome and he came over to her and took her hand.

"Will you let me kiss you just once? Then I'll go."

"On the cheek," she said severely, lifting her face.

At that moment, Tony Harper, the assistant coach, walked into the room.

"Good morning," he said briskly. "I'm sorry to break in on such a pretty picture, but there is a baseball game today, and we'd love to see Mr. Regan at the park."

Handsone stood there rigid. Mike's face was crimson. There was nothing they could say.

No, you couldn't do what we wanted to do, and do it cheap.

You couldn't set out to top the field, focusing on how much you could put in rather than take out—and with accustomed equipment keep costs down.

You couldn't micro-balance engines, heavy-up frames and running gear, strengthen bodies, enrich upholstery and fittings, improve performance, better the value per inch, per pound and per dollar—and do it with last year's methods.

So we faced it, re-tooled and renewed our vast modern plant all over again—put eight million new dollars on the line; the Buick line for 1940.

What did we get for it? Rather ask, what do you get? Listen.

You get a big beautiful brawny car styled to knock your eye out—the fashion pattern for them all next year, just look around and see.

You get a car that positively glitters in its brilliance of action, modern as television in the wondrous way it does things.

MOTHERS CLUB HEARS DOCTOR

Dr. Paul Bennett of Alliance Discusses "Social Diseases"
At Meeting Here

Dr. Paul Bennett of Alliance was speaker at last night's meeting of the Progressive Mothers club at the home of Mrs. Lester Lehman on North Union ave. Mrs. Lowell, Brown, program chairman, pre- sented the speaker.

Dr. Bennett's subject, which he discussed informally, was "Social Diseases." Using charts and pic- tures to illustrate his talk, Dr. Bennett gave the historical origin of social diseases, various stages in their progress and the discoveries of treatment. The speaker empha- sized the point that social diseases can be cured, with expensive or in- expensive methods, according to pri- vate treatment by a doctor or clinical treatment. Tests to show the presence of the diseases and medi- cine for treating them may be pro- cured free from the state in cases where the patient can not afford to pay for it.

Dr. Bennett pointed out that in- creasingly large numbers of indus- trial plants are requiring workers to submit to tests for social dis- eases and that the law requiring pre-marital examination before the granting of marriage licenses is becoming widespread. At present, he said, only 16 of the 48 states have such laws, Ohio not included, but the desire for the passage of the law is apparently growing.

The talk was followed by a forum discussion of the subject.

Later in the evening a social hour was enjoyed and a lunch was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 10 at the home of Mrs. John Hochadel, East Eighth st.

Campaign Over

PORT CLINTON, Sept. 27.—The campaign for re-election of Mayor Fred Slaughterbeck was closed today by suicide. Coroner E. P. Semon said Mayor Slaughterbeck died last night from a self-inflicted shotgun wound after suffering from a nerv- ous breakdown.

Theatre Attractions

The stage success, "Golden Boy," has been turned into a hit movie of the same name, with a new- comer, William Holden, playing the title role. The picture shows at the State Thursday through Sat- urday.

Holden gets his first screen op- portunity as Joe Bonaparte, gifted violinist, who yields to his de- sire for quick money and becomes the sensation of the prize ring.

Barbara Stanwyck, Adolphe Men- jou, Lee J. Cobb, Joseph Calleia, Sam Levene, Edward S. Brophy, Beatrice Blinn and William H. Strauss are seen in the cast.

The Clifford Odets stirring play has been turned into a fine motion picture. Individually good per- formances, highlighted by the work of Holden and Lee J. Cobb, give the story a depth and sincerity which might have been lost in lesser play- ers.

Concluding at the State tonight is the comedy, "Unexpected Fath- er," starring Baby Sandy Henville.

Soviets "Black Sea Pact" May Stop Hitler

Soviet Russia summoned Turkey, Rumania and Bulgaria to Moscow to discuss a "Black Sea Pact," to prevent "others" from encroaching on their zone of influence. Dress Up Autumn Frocks With Accessories

Dressing up your basic autumn frock with smart accessories will do wonders toward putting you right up in front in the fashion parade. You may choose from a wide selection of colors. With a striped flannel dress the tweed flecked rooster's cap is youthful, cute and saucy. In tune with it are the short hand-stitched gloves of doeskin. For daytime wear with a simple frock the suede tilted topper is appropriate. Toeless hosiery can be worn with either evening slippers or daytime sandals.

Question 'Reds' Ability To Halt Yankee Sweep In Series

BELIEVE YANKS TOO TOUGH FOR REDS TO STOP

Big Question Is Whether Cincy Could Win One Game In Series

BY SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—No matter where you go these days—in the parks, the stadiums, the homes—the boys and girls don't ask: "Can the Yankees win the series?"

Instead, they wonder: "Can the Reds take a game?"

The big question is: Can Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer, individually or collectively, stop one of the greatest ball clubs of all time for just one afternoon?

They know Mr. Joseph McCarthy's Bronx boys have it all over the Rhineland rascals in every department, and that the Reds' one and only chance rests on the good right arm of big Bucky and plucky Paul.

Against this pitching, the Yankees haven't a thing except Red Ruffing, Monte Pearson, maybe Lefty Gomez, Steve Sundra, Atley Donald, Bump Hadley, Marius Russo, etc.

May Blow Pennant

It's still possible for the Reds to "blow" the pennant to the St. Louis Cardinals, you know, but since they're only a half game away from clinching, that possibility is about as strong as that of seeing an elephant strolling down Broadway eating an ice cream cone.

Now, Bucky and Paul have been as valuable to Cincinnati this year as a T-bone steak to a starving man, but the way the Reds have had to fight right down to the wire has done neither any good. They've won more than 50 games between them so far, which is pretty fair country for a team that is not a team.

True, Ruffing has lost his last three starts, but the chips weren't down in those outings. But the money on the line, and old Rufus the Red is still about the No. 1 "clutch" man in the business. He produces. Gomez is the same way, too, in the "money" games. El Gordo strained his side muscles a couple of days ago, but the doctors say he'll be ready for the series. If he is, he has a fair chance of going right along with his exclusive solid gold record of never having lost a series game. He has won six in four of the classics.

Pearson No. 3
No. 3 on the list is that stylish California curve-ball specialist, Monte Pearson, who needs only his control to give them all lessons in the art of how to win ball games and influence batters. He, too, has yet to taste defeat in a series, winning three games in three years.

Back of him is Bump Hadley, a good "spot" pitcher, wise in the ways of the game after 13 years up there.

On the other hand, when you get past Bucky and Derringer, the Reds you find a lot of nice bright youngsters, who may or may not, who figure to wind up all cut and bruised, if they try tangling with the big boys now. Notable among these fellows too young for such a fate are Gene Thompson, pleasant surprise among the year's rookies, and Lefty Lee Grissom, who always has things happen to him.

So it's up to Bucky and Paul against Red and Lefty or Monte. Pretty nearly everybody figures the Yankees can't miss cashing in for their fourth straight world championship, but it's going to be interesting to see whether Cincinnati's twirling twins are good enough to bring just one slab of bacon home. Bill Lee couldn't even get the ring for the Cubs last fall.

BOWLING RESULTS

Merle (Red) White was "burned" last night—"burning" the alleys at the Masonic temple as he fired a 632 series, the highest recorded in any Salem bowling league so far this season.

White, a member of the Gem Shoe Shine team, started off with a splendid 228 game, dropped to 193 in the second heat and finished with 217.

The Salem News, defending champions of the league, jumped into sole possession of first place in the standings by sweeping three games with Grate Recreation. The News has won five games and lost one.

With White setting the pace, Gem Shoe Shine took two out of three games from Fitzpatrick & Strain. Other matches saw Kelly's Service win two out of three games with the Moose and Art the Jeweler take three heats with the Masons.

First place in the City Duckpin league at the Grate Recreation alleys became the possession of the Blue Ribbon Paints last night as they took three games from the Martin Tire Sales to boost their season's record to eight wins in nine.

Local No. 42, National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery, upset DeRienzo's Spaghetti Shoppe in two of three games, while the Bulldogs dished out two defeats to Fratilla's.

The recently-organized Owl League, a six-team circuit, opened its 1939-40 season at the Grate alleys with the DuPont Paints winning three games from the Sanitary Old Timers, the Sanitary Enamelers taking three heats from the Martin Tires and Grate Motor winning two out of three games with the Trades Class.

REDS' MANAGER USES WALTERS IN GAME TODAY

Bill McKecknie Depends On His Ace To Sew Up Pennant

By JOHN FRYE
CINCINNATI, Sept. 27.—With the end of the season swirling up like the crack of doom, the Cincinnati Reds and their shadows, the St. Louis Cardinals, try again today to put the clutch on each other in a game which can bring Cincinnati its first National league pennant since the Olympian days of Pat Moran.

It isn't like yesterday, when the twin bill gave each team the chance, for unless today's game winds up another one of those ties in favor of the slug, the Reds either have the flag spiked to the mast for the first time in 25 years, or the Cards are a game closer to the top.

Walters Faces McGee
Bucky Walters, the tall fellow whose formative years were spent on third base and who now owns Cincinnati and its metropolitan district, and Fiddler Bill McGee are the pitchers. Bucky, in the course of his 27 wins this year, has put the old hex on the Cardinals four times and Manager Bill McKecknie is depending on his long right arm for the conqueror today.

Bucky is pitching today as a result of some smart maneuvering by Deacon Bill, who is nobody's fool, in yesterday's double-header. Bill said to Gene Thompson, doughty freshman, "Gene, can you do it?" Gene said yes, and despite six walks and nine hits by the high-compression Cards, the Reds had the opening game that gave them the starting edge by a score of 3 to 1.

Thus, McKecknie could take a chance on Lee Grissom, who does and then doesn't, for the nightcap and give hard-working Bucky, who pitched and won a full game only Saturday, another day of rest, as well as throw his ace, Paul Derringer, at the Cards tomorrow. As developed, Lee did not pick the ball game soon was over. Morton Cooper kept the Reds under a tent all the way and the final was 6 to 0.

Must Step Fast
Just the same, with but four games left to 1939 after today, the Cards have a steep mountain to climb if they are to take the flag in the face of the Reds' 3½ game lead.

It was Billy Myers' ninth homer of the year that made the difference in the opener. After Ernie Lombardi had astonished the Card outfield by lining a double to right to open the second inning, Harry Craft singled him to third and both stood still while Wally Berger popped to Jimmy Brown at short. Then Bill caught the first ball pitched to him and it had whiskers on it. It went on a low curve to the top of the left field wall and while Ducky Medwick scratched the air frantically, it bounced over into the alley.

You couldn't have heard a two-ton bomb explode in that park full of 34,194 spectators.

Grissom, who needs a good start to win, might have done better in the nightcap if Brown's curly roller down third base line had gone foul. Bill Werber pranced alongside the ball for 10 feet, having no chance to throw to first anyway, but it went to bed against the bag. That was the cue for the explosion and before Red Barrett, just back from Indianapolis, restored law and order, four runs were in on six hits.

Cooper gave the Reds four hits, one a lucky double by Willard Reiserhoerger and the other Wally Berger's first triple of the year. But the Redleg supporting cast couldn't produce.

BOBCATS SEEK GRID REVENGE

Ohio U. Set On Regaining Prestige Lost In Opening Game

The Bobcats of Ohio university, usually a power in state collegiate football circles, went about their workout today with a grim determination to regain lost prestige.

Upset by Kentucky Teachers in their opener, Coach Don Peden's boys go against Butler this weekend.

Indications were that Peden would turn to a wide open game with Dan Risatti, Canton junior, expected to do most of the passing. In the punting department, Karl Schmidt, Akron Junior, has been looking good.

Another former Akron scholastic star, Bob Nash, probably will make his debut with Toledo Saturday against Detroit Tech in a half-back spot.

At Ohio Northern injuries took their first toll of the year, a broken arm benching fullback Bob Lyman and a shoulder injury shelving end Bob Wilson.

Meanwhile preparations were ahead at full speed for the top game of the weekend, the clash at Cleveland between the Dayton Flyers and the Western Reserve Red Cats Saturday.

The Flyers have indicated they will look to Jack Padley, speedy Philadelphia back, to supply most of the spark in their attack.

Red Cats followers received a scare when Dick Booth, crack fullback, suffered a neck injury in scrimmage. He is expected to be back in shape for the opener, however.

Quite a Fellow
Stan Payne of Ponca City, Okla., swears that during the fourth round of the Pastor-Louis fight one of the broadcasters shouted, "Pastor is standing with both feet well in the air!"

Statistics compiled by the National Golf Foundation show Byron Nelson is the year's outstanding golfer.

Bull Fighter Sidney Franklin, now appearing at the World's fair, had difficulty convincing an audience he is a Brooklyn native until he said something about "hard berled" eggs.

Ray Flaherty, Washington Redskins' coach, saw the football Giants play Philadelphia and was unimpressed.

Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers have turned down offers to meet the winner of the Oct. 6 fight in China between Sammy Angott and Davey Day.

Louis As Second
Joe Louis seconds Dave Clark against Buddy Knox at Dayton Oct. 2.

Cleveland pals got up a party for Oscar Vitt. Unfortunately, they forgot to tell Oscar about it. So, the only guy who didn't show up was—Oscar Vitt.

Questions About Texas Christian's Power To Be Answered

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 27.—Three days from now the dope on Texas Christian's football team will pass from rumor to fact.

Leo R. Meyer, tutor of the phenomenal Christians of '38, who won the mythical No. 1 national ranking, believes he will know all the answers Friday night at Los Angeles when his mammoths open the season against U. C. L. A.

Can Jack Odle, the handsome, 185-pound junior, squeeze into wee Davey O'Brien's tiny shoes?

Can his new linemen approach the great defensive play of departed Ki Aldrich, I. B. Hale, Allie White, et al?

Will Give Answers
"Frankly, I can't say," murmured Coach Meyer as he packed his boys for the Pacific. "But I'm certain of this—U. C. L. A. will give us the answers. I'm short on replacements and I'm not at all certain about my defense."

"The offense? I believe it will be as good as last year. Odle has shown me worlds of stuff in scrimmages. He's a great boy—fine passer, kicker of the Sam Baugh type, and a good runner. I don't know about the signal calling. That's where O'Brien will be hard to replace."

The offense is, according to every measurement of the yardstick, as good as last year. Earle Clark, the symphony violinist who plays right halfback, should be the finest running back of the southwest. He has legalized murder in his heart when he bounds over the tackles; the soul of an artist off the field.

On left halfback is Logan Ware, a peculiar, slashing type runner who starred in the Carnegie Tech massacre at the Sugar Bowl. Connie Sparks, all-southwest conference fullback, his sophomore year in '38 and the league's leading scorer, is the brute power of the balanced combination.

Excellent Ends
Seniors Don Looney and Durwood Horner, the receivers for O'Brien's darts the past two years, are just two of five excellent ends.

Tackle play should be above average with Bob Cook, 215-pound giant who starred last year, playing with his injured shoulder in a weird looking harness, and Emnis Kerlee, junior letterman, at the other slot.

Capt. Bud Taylor, a rock of the '38 line, and Freddie Sherrod, junior letterman, fill the guard posts—and well.

Airch no more roams the pivot position and the two men present are not likely to succeed him as All-America, but Clarence (Lefty) Alexander and Fred Shook, one-time Texas schoolboy all-state center, "are plenty good enough for me," quoth Meyer.

Texas Christian again will play its old passing game, with Odle on the mound. But the figures show the Christians gained more by running last year. Clark, Ware and Sparks are back to attend to that.

main of the Polish nation of a month ago.

One cannot pass this point without noting the reported surrender of Warsaw today, black-out of a splendid old city after one of the most gallant and dramatic defenses in history.

The Russians and Germans may see fit to restore Warsaw to its position as Polish capital—if there is to be any Poland.

2. Possible signing of a Russo-German military alliance to bring the Soviet's great army and tremendous resources into the conflict against the Allies. Here it should be noted that Moscow has announced its neutrality.

3. Formation of a neutral Balkan bloc under Russian influence and led by Turkey, which has developed into a sort of bell-wether for the uneasy Balkans.

4. Making of a pact between Russia and Turkey under which the latter would forbid passage of the Dardanelles (gateway to the Black sea) to any nation hostile to the Soviet.

Observers have noted that this might cut Britain and France off from carrying aid to Roumania, which lies on this inland sea.

Whatever may come of this conference, the general set-up and problems on hand, only serve to emphasize the dominant position which Russia has acquired almost overnight in eastern Europe and the Balkans.

Problem For Allies
The Russian occupation of eastern Poland raises a pretty problem for the Anglo-French allies. Under the Anglo-Polish mutual assistance pact, to which France also subscribed, the Allies are bound to do their utmost to restore Poland to its former state of sovereignty.

This means that the allied objective must be to eject not only Germany but, unless the Soviet union should voluntarily withdraw, to compel it to do so.

The Allies haven't chosen to make an official issue of the Russian occupation as yet, since that would be challenging the Soviet to war, and they have as much war as they need already. However, if and when they have defeated Nazism, they are pledged to have a go at Russia, should that country persist in its occupation of Polish territory.

Rebuild Nation's Economy Is Plea of Bankers' Head

(By Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Sept. 27.—Philip A. Benson of Brooklyn, president of the American Bankers association, called upon labor, management and government today to rebuild the nation's economy to meet the strains and stresses caused by the European war.

In an address prepared for the association's 65th annual convention, Benson said he hoped that "in a time of developing crisis there may be an abatement of the conflict between the philosophies of business and government."

"The least that we should accomplish is the end of disunion within our borders," he said. "We have had our full measure of drastic changes imposed by legislation. It is necessary to have an opportunity to digest them."

Benson said what the country needed now more than anything else was stability and that labor management and government should act as a unit to rebuild the nation's economy.

"The struggle overseas may possibly drag down democracy in Europe," he said. "Perhaps it will be our mission to keep it alive in the world. In any case, we have it in our power to make this country the citadel of freedom, and we certainly ought to be about doing so."

"Our immediate job in such a situation is the constant strengthening of the condition and the management of our banks for greater service to the nation's needs. In addition, we ought at all times to contribute our share of intelligent opinion to the solution of such problems as arise."

Declares Russian Espionage Agents Operating In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Dr. David H. Dubrowsky, former American representative of the Russian Red Cross, testified before the house committee on un-American activities today that Russia operated a spy system in this country which he said involved the theft of mail and the interception of telegrams and cablegrams.

The "ink was hardly dry" on United States recognition of the Soviet in 1933, Dubrowsky declared, when a Russian secret police agent was assigned to his New York office to spy.

The witness asserted that this agent, Jacob Sternberg of the OGPU, "had nothing to do with any Red Cross activities," and that Dubrowsky subsequently went to Moscow early in 1934 to protest the presence of a spy in his office.

As a result, Dubrowsky testified, Sternberg later was removed. Dubrowsky said he also learned that Sternberg's work included contacting minor employees of telegraph and cable companies for the purpose of intercepting telegrams and cablegrams.
